1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Under well-settled law, this case is subject to arbitration, not litigation in this Court.

3 Each of the Plaintiffs entered into a Delivery Service Partner Program Agreement (“Agreement”)
 4 with Defendant Amazon Logistics, Inc. The Agreement mandates that the parties must resolve
 5 any disputes arising out of the Agreement through arbitration. Ignoring the Agreement and its 6 arbitration requirement, Plaintiffs now seek to pursue a class action lawsuit against Amazon in 7 the wrong forum.

8 Plaintiffs’ assent to the Agreement and its binding arbitration provision bars this lawsuit.

9 The Federal Arbitration Act (“FAA”) requires the Court to dismiss or stay this action until the 10 dispute is resolved by an arbitrator. And Washington state law provides a further, independent 11 basis for either dismissing or staying this action pending arbitration. Plaintiffs concede that the 12 Agreement is valid and enforceable, and in fact invoke and rely on the Agreement to assert 13 claims under Washington law and for breach of the Agreement itself and the implied covenant of 14 good faith and fair dealing. Nevertheless, Plaintiffs simultaneously try to disavow and defy their 15 contractual commitment to arbitrate this dispute. That attempt to avoid arbitration fails. Courts 16 have considered the enforceability of the very arbitration clause at issue here and have compelled 17 arbitration of the same causes of action. See Buckley Declaration (“Buckley Decl.”) Ex. A
 18 (Triton Transp., LLC v. Amazon Logistics, Inc., No. 21-cv-41524, Order on Motion to Compel
 19 Arbitration (Or. Cir. Mar. 31, 2022)), Ex. B (Amos v. Amazon Logistics, Inc., No. 1:22-CV-55,
 20 Memorandum Opinion and Order (M.D. N.C. June 16, 2022.))

21 Amazon respectfully requests that the Court order Plaintiffs to comply with the 22 Agreement, compel Plaintiffs to arbitrate their claims individually as they agreed to do, and 23 dismiss or stay this action pending the outcome of the arbitration proceeding. Plaintiffs will lose 24 nothing in that process, because they can pursue in arbitration the same claims they seek to assert 25 in this lawsuit.

26 II. BACKGROUND

27 Amazon is a retailer that offers a wide selection of products, some for sale directly from 28 amazon.com and some for sale from millions of third-party sellers. Declaration of Micah

 2 Amazon Logistics coordinates the movement and warehousing of products, equipment and 3 supplies within Amazon's own facilities, and coordinates Amazon's external relationships with

 5 ("DSP") Program, Amazon Logistics contracts with independently owned businesses like 6 Plaintiffs to provide local delivery services in specific geographic areas. Id. ¶¶ 3-4.

11 Stelvio Transport LLC ("Stelvio") is a current DSP operating in California. Compl. ¶ 17.

 13 (the predecessor to the current DSP 2.0 Program) in 2017. Id. ¶¶ 17, 27. Stelvio joined the DSP
 14 2.0 Program by executing the Agreement on July 27, 2018. McCabe Decl. ¶ 7.

15 When DSPs, including the Plaintiffs, join the DSP 2.0 Program, they review and execute 16 the Agreement, which defines the parties' respective rights and obligations under the Program.
 17 McCabe Decl. ¶¶ 4-9; Ex. A (Agreement between Fli-Lo Falcon and Amazon Logistics), Ex. B
 18 (Agreement between Steel City and Amazon Logistics, and Stelvio and Amazon Logistics). Fli-
 19 Lo Falcon, Steel City, and Stelvio were provided a copy of the Agreement for their review prior 20 to execution. See id. ¶¶ 4, 7.

21 The Agreement includes a broad, unequivocal arbitration clause that requires the parties
 22 to arbitrate all disputes arising out of the Agreement:

23 This Agreement is governed by the United States Federal Arbitration Act,
 24 applicable United States federal law, and Washington state law, without reference
 25 to any applicable conflict of laws rules. ANY DISPUTE ARISING OUT OF 26 THIS AGREEMENT WILL BE RESOLVED BY BINDING ARBITRATION,
 27 RATHER THAN IN COURT. There is no judge or jury in arbitration, and court 28 review of an arbitration award is limited. However, an arbitrator can award on an individual basis the same damages and relief as a court (including injunctive and declaratory relief or statutory damages), and must follow the terms of this Agreement as a court would.

1 McCabe Decl. Ex. A § 13, Ex. B § 13 (emphasis in original)

2 The Agreement also requires the parties arbitrate all disputes before the AAA, under the 3 AAA rules:

4 The arbitration will be conducted by the American Arbitration Association
5 (the “AAA”) under its rules, including the AAA’s Commercial Arbitration
6 Rules. ... YOUR COMPANY AND AMAZON EACH AGREE THAT ANY 7 DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROCEEDINGS WILL BE CONDUCTED ONLY 8 ON AN INDIVIDUAL BASIS AND NOT IN A CLASS, CONSOLIDATED, OR 9 REPRESENTATIVE ACTION. If for any reason a claim proceeds in court rather than in arbitration, your company and Amazon each waive any right to a jury trial.

9 Id. (capitalization in original; bold added).

10 On March 31, 2021, Amazon’s Agreement with Fli-Lo Falcon expired by its terms and 11 Amazon chose not to renew it, as it had an absolute right to do. McCabe Decl. ¶ 11, Ex. A
12 §§ 1(a); 6(a). On April 5, 2022, in defiance of its contractual obligation to arbitrate, Fli-Lo
13 Falcon filed this lawsuit. On April 12, 2022, Amazon terminated the Agreement with Steel City
14 following its repeated material breaches of the Agreement. McCabe Decl. ¶ 12. On May 20, 15 2022, Plaintiffs filed the Amended Complaint, and Steel City and Stelvio joined as Plaintiffs in 16 the action.

17 The Amended Complaint purports to assert, on behalf of a nationwide class, claims for 18 (1) breach of the Agreement; (2) fraud arising from representations in the DSP Program
19 marketing materials and the Agreement; (3) fraudulent inducement; (4) breach of the implied
20 covenant of good faith and fair dealing in the Agreement; (5) unjust enrichment; (6) violation of 21 the Washington Consumer Protection Act (“CPA”) and the Washington Franchise Investment
22 Protection Act (“FIPA”), contending that the DSP Program and the Agreement created a 23 franchise; (7) injunctive relief; and (8) declaratory relief. Compl. ¶¶ 145-99.

24 There can be no genuine dispute that these claims directly arise out of the parties’ rights
25 and obligations under the Agreement. There would be no relationship between Plaintiffs and 26 Amazon, and there could be no dispute between them, but for the Agreement. Indeed, Plaintiffs 27 acknowledge that their claims arise out of the Agreement. See, e.g., Compl. ¶ 10 (“Pursuant to 28 the DSP Agreement, the Parties have consented to the application of Washington law.”); ¶ 136

1 (“Plaintiffs and the members of the Class sustained damages due to Defendants’ violations of 2 law alleged herein, which arise out of Defendants’ common course of conduct in connection
 3 with a standard, common DSP Agreement, and standard, common marketing materials”)
 4 (emphasis added).

5 III. ARGUMENT

6 The Agreement specifies that it is governed by the FAA and Washington state law.
 7 McCabe Decl. Ex. A § 13, Ex. B § 13. Under the FAA and Washington law, written agreements 8 to arbitrate are “valid, irrevocable, and enforceable, save upon such grounds as exist at law or in 9 equity for the revocation of any contract.” 9 U.S.C. § 2; see RCW § 7.04A.060. A party faced
 10 with a refusal or failure to arbitrate as required under a written agreement may petition the court
 11 for an order compelling arbitration. 9 U.S.C. § 4; RCW § 7.04A.070. The FAA requires courts 12 to compel arbitration “in accordance with the terms of the agreement” upon such motion of 13 either party, consistent with the principle that arbitration is a matter of contract. 9 U.S.C. § 4.
 14 Washington law similarly requires a court to order the parties to arbitrate once the court finds 15 that there is an enforceable agreement to arbitrate. RCW § 7.04A.070.

16 In determining whether to compel arbitration, normally only two “gateway” issues need 17 to be evaluated: (1) whether there is a valid agreement to arbitrate between the parties; and 18 (2) whether the agreement covers the dispute. Howsam v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc., 537 U.S.
 19 79, 83-85 (2002); Chiron Corp. v. Ortho Diagnostic Systems, Inc., 207 F.3d 1126, 1130 (9th Cir.
 20 2000). But when the parties have clearly and unmistakably delegated questions regarding 21 arbitrability to the arbitrator, the Court need not reach the second inquiry. See Rent-A-Ctr., W., Inc. v. Jackson, 561 U.S. 63, 68-70 (2010); Brennan v. Opus Bank, 796 F.3d 1125, 1130 (9th Cir.
 22 2015). Importantly, under Ninth Circuit law, “incorporation of the AAA rules constitutes clear 23 and unmistakable evidence that contracting parties agreed to arbitrate arbitrability.” Brennan, 24 796 F.3d at 1130.

26 As addressed below, Plaintiffs and Amazon plainly entered into valid agreements to 27 arbitrate. By invoking and incorporating the AAA and its rules, the parties’ agreements also 28 clearly and unmistakably delegate questions of arbitrability to the arbitrator. That ends the

1 inquiry here; if Plaintiffs intend to challenge whether their claims or this dispute are subject to 2 the arbitration clause, they must do so before the arbitrator. But even if, contrary to Ninth
 3 Circuit law, the Court were to consider that issue, Plaintiffs' claims fall squarely within the scope
 4 of the arbitration clause.

5 A. The Agreement Contains A Valid Agreement To Arbitrate.

6 Plaintiffs had clear notice of and expressly agreed to the arbitration provisions in the 7 Agreement, which are governed by "the United States Federal Arbitration Act, applicable United 8 States federal law, and Washington state law." See McCabe Decl. Ex. A § 13, Ex. B § 13.
 9 Plaintiffs do not dispute, but in fact admit, the existence of a valid contract. See, e.g., Compl.
 10 ¶ 17 ("[the] 2.0 DSP Agreement ... currently governs the Parties' relationship today"); ¶ 32
 11 ("Whitfield, Wiles and Omar each executed a DSP Agreement on behalf of their companies with 12 ALI ..."). Both the FAA and Washington law strongly favor arbitration where, as here, there is 13 evidence of assent to a valid agreement. And both federal law and Washington law 14 independently compel enforcement of the parties' arbitration agreement.

15 1. The Agreement Is Enforceable Under The FAA.

16 Pursuant to the Agreement's express terms, the FAA governs the Agreement, including 17 the arbitration provisions. McCabe Decl. Ex. A § 13, Ex. B § 13. As the U.S. Supreme Court
 18 has affirmed, the FAA declares a liberal policy favoring enforcement of arbitration provisions.
 19 See e.g., Moses H. Cone Memorial Hosp. v. Mercury Constr. Corp., 460 U.S. 1, 24 (1983).
 20 Accordingly, written agreements to arbitrate disputes "shall be valid, irrevocable, and 21 enforceable, save upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of any 22 contract." AT&T Mobility LLC v. Concepcion, 563 U.S. 333, 339 (2011) (citing 9 U.S.C. § 2).
 23 But the FAA does not simply place arbitration agreements on equal footing with other contracts;
 24 instead, it "favor[s] arbitration agreements." Perry v. Thomas, 482 U.S. 483, 489 (1987)
 25 (emphasis added); see also, e.g., Mortensen v. Bresnan Commc'n LLC, 722 F.3d 1151, 1160 26 (9th Cir. 2013) ("[T]he FAA's purpose is to give preference (instead of mere equality) to 27 arbitration provisions.").

1 The party seeking to compel arbitration “bears the burden of proving the existence of an
 2 agreement to arbitrate by a preponderance of the evidence.” Norcia v. Samsung Telecomm. Am.,
 3 LLC, 845 F.3d 1279, 1283 (9th Cir. 2017) (internal quotation marks and citation omitted). If an 4 agreement exists, the FAA “leaves no place for the exercise of discretion by a district court, but 5 instead mandates that district courts shall direct the parties to proceed to arbitration.” Dean
 6 Witter Reynolds, Inc. v. Byrd, 470 U.S. 213, 218 (1985) (emphasis in original). “[A]ny doubts 7 concerning the scope of arbitrable issues should be resolved in favor of arbitration, whether the 8 problem at hand is the construction of the contract language itself or an allegation of waiver, 9 delay, or a like defense to arbitrability.” Mitsubishi Motors Corp. v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth,
 10 Inc., 473 U.S. 614, 626 (1985).

11 Courts apply state-law principles of contract formation to determine whether parties
 12 assented to an agreement to arbitrate. See First Options of Chicago, Inc. v. Kaplan, 514 U.S.
 13 938, 944 (1995); Norcia, 845 F.3d at 1283. Thus, the Court should determine the validity of the 14 arbitration agreement under “general state-law principles of contract interpretation, while giving 15 due regard to the federal policy in favor of arbitration.” Mundi v. Union Sec. Life Ins. Co., 555 16 F.3d 1042, 1044 (9th Cir. 2009). In Washington, “[t]he role of the court is to determine the 17 mutual intentions of the contracting parties according to the reasonable meaning of their words 18 and acts.” Fisher Props., Inc. v. Arden-Mayfair, Inc., 106 Wn.2d 826, 837 (1986). Thus, the 19 court must attempt to ascertain the intent of the parties based on objective manifestations of the 20 agreement and the reasonable meaning of the words used in the contract. Hearst Commc’ns, Inc.
 21 v. Seattle Times Co., 154 Wn.2d 493, 503 (2005).

22 “The proponent of a contract need only prove the existence of the contract and the other
 23 party’s objective manifestation of intent to be bound thereby; the unexpressed subjective intent
 24 of either party is irrelevant.” Retail Clerks Health & Welfare Tr. Funds v. Shopland Supermkt., 25 Inc., 96 Wn.2d 939, 944 (1982). A party’s signature is evidence that the party intended to be 26 bound. See Yakima Cty. (W. Valley) Fire Prot. Dist. No. 12 v. City of Yakima, 122 Wn.2d 371, 27 389 (1993). Contracts formed online, where a party agrees to the contract terms through the 28 click of a button, are enforceable like any other contract. See e.g., Peters v. Amazon Services,

1 LLC, 2 F. Supp. 3d 1165, 1170 (W.D. Wash. 2013); Riensche v. Cingular Wireless, LLC, No.
 2 C06-1325Z, 2006 WL 3827477, at *2 (W.D. Wash. Dec. 27, 2006) (compelling arbitration
 3 where the plaintiff “was required to agree to the Terms online”). “In interpreting an arbitration
 4 clause, the intentions of the parties as expressed in the agreement controls, but ‘those intentions
 5 are generously construed as to issues of arbitrability.’” Peters, 2 F. Supp. 3d at 1170 (quoting
 6 W.A. Botting Plumbing and Heating Co. v. Constructors-Pamco, 47 Wn. App. 681, 684 (1987)).

7 Here, there is no dispute that Plaintiffs agreed to the Agreement or the arbitration clause.
 8 Plaintiffs concede in their Amended Complaint that the contract is valid and enforceable and,
 9 indeed, bring their own claims predicated on the validity of the contract. See, e.g., Compl. ¶¶ 32,
 10 37, 41. The Agreement clearly states that “ANY DISPUTE ARISING OUT OF THIS 11 AGREEMENT WILL BE RESOLVED BY BINDING ARBITRATION, RATHER THAN IN 12 COURT.” McCabe Decl. Ex. A § 13, Ex. B § 13 (emphasis in original). This unambiguous 13 language cannot reasonably be construed as anything other than a valid agreement to arbitrate, as 14 numerous courts applying Washington law have recognized and as mandated by the FAA. And 15 the Court need look no further than this language to determine the existence of an agreement to 16 arbitrate. See State Dep’t of Corr. v. Fluor Daniel, Inc., 160 Wn.2d 786, 795 (2007) (courts 17 must “carry out the intent of the parties as manifested … by the parties’ own contract 18 language.”).

19 As discussed further below, that ends the inquiry. Under well-established Ninth Circuit 20 law, when there is a valid arbitration agreement that delegates authority to the arbitrator, all 21 further questions—including whether the arbitration clause encompasses the dispute in 22 question—must be decided by the arbitrator, not by a court. Brennan, 796 F.3d at 1130.

23 2. The FAA Exemption For Transportation Workers Is Inapplicable.

24 Plaintiffs apparently intend to try to avoid their contractual arbitration obligation by 25 invoking the FAA’s transportation worker exemption. See Joint Status Report, Dkt. No. 28 at 2-26 3. Section 1 of the FAA provides a narrow exemption for “contracts of employment of seamen, 27 railroad employees, or any other class of workers engaged in foreign or interstate commerce.”
 28 9 U.S.C. § 1. This very limited exemption plainly does not apply to the Agreement between

1 Amazon and Plaintiffs, which are independently owned and operated businesses that entered into 2 a commercial contract to fulfill delivery orders.

3 The express language of FAA Section 1 limits the application of the exemption to 4 “contracts of employment.” Id. In New Prime, Inc. v. Oliveira, the Supreme Court held that, as 5 used in Section 1, “contracts of employment” means “any contract for the performance of work
 6 by workers.” 139 S. Ct. 532, 541 (2019); accord Southwest Airlines Co. v. Saxon, 596 U.S. ___, 7 ___ (2022) (Slip Op. at 4). A “contract of employment” must be a contract of employment of 8 individual “workers”, and not an agreement between two business entities. See 9 U.S.C. § 1 (the 9 exemption applies to “seamen, railroad employees, or any other class of workers engaged in 10 foreign or interstate commerce”); D.V.C. Trucking, Inc. v. RMX Global Logistics, Inc., No. Civ.
 11 A 05-CV-00705, 2005 WL 2044848, at *3 (D. Colo. Aug. 24, 2005) (a corporation was not a 12 “transportation worker,” and the contract between two companies was an “arm’s length business 13 contract for carrier services,” not an employment contract); R&C Oilfield Servs., LLC, v.
 14 American Wind Transp. Grp., LLC, 447 F. Supp. 3d 339, 347 (W.D. Pa. 2020) (“The Agreement
 15 here is a commercial contract between two business entities. It cannot reasonably be construed 16 as a contract of employment governing ‘work by workers.’”).

17 The Agreement here is not a contract of employment, but rather a commercial contract
 18 between Plaintiffs, self-described transportation and logistics companies, and Amazon, a 19 corporation, for the commercial delivery of goods. See Compl. ¶¶ 15-17 (describing each of the 20 Plaintiffs as “a transportation and logistics company, which entered into a contract to deliver 21 packages for ALI”). Accordingly, the Agreement governs a transactional commercial
 22 relationship between two business entities, whereby each of the Plaintiffs was to provide delivery
 23 services for Amazon. As such, the exemption does not apply here. See 9 U.S.C. § 1; D.V.C.
 24 Trucking, 2005 WL 2044848, at *3 (D. Colo. 2005); R&C Oilfield Servs., F. Supp. 3d at 347
 25 (W.D. Pa. 2020).

26 3. The Agreement Is Also Enforceable Under Washington Law.

27 Where, as here, an arbitration clause is governed by both federal and state law, the state
 28 law mandated in a choice-of-law provision provides an independent basis for compelling

1 arbitration, even if an FAA exemption otherwise applies. See e.g., Romero v. Watkins and
 2 Shepard Trucking, Inc., No. 20-55768, 2021 WL 3675074, at *2-3 (9th Cir. Aug. 20, 2021)
 3 (compelling arbitration of employee's claims pursuant to Nevada law, where contract subject to 4 exemption from FAA provided for the application of Nevada law); Palcko v. Airborne Express,
 5 Inc., 372 F.3d 588, 596 (3d Cir. 2004) (holding that the FAA-exempted agreement to arbitrate
 6 could still be subject to arbitration pursuant to Washington state law); Harper v. Amazon.com
 7 Servs., Inc., 12 F.4th 287, 295 (3d Cir. 2021) (same). In fact, courts may compel arbitration
 8 under state law without deciding whether the FAA exemption applies at all. See, e.g., Adams v.
 9 Parts Distribution Xpress, Inc., No. 2:20-cv-00697-JMG, 2021 WL 1088231, at *4 (E.D. Pa.
 10 Mar. 22, 2021). Specifically, without ever deciding whether the FAA applied, other courts have 11 compelled arbitration under Washington state law under DSP agreements identical to the 12 Agreement here at issue here. Buckley Decl. Ex. A (Triton Transp., LLC v. Amazon Logistics, 13 Inc., No. 21-cv-41524, Order on Motion to Compel Arbitration (Or. Cir. Mar. 31, 2022)) at 10, 14 Ex. B (Amos v. Amazon Logistics, Inc., No. 1:22-CV-55, Memorandum Opinion and Order
 15 (M.D. N.C. June 16, 2022)) (same).

16 The Agreement provides that it is governed not only by the FAA but also by 17 "Washington state law." McCabe Decl. Ex. A § 13, Ex. B § 13. Washington state law provides 18 that valid arbitration agreements must be enforced. RCW §§ 7.04A.060, 7.04A.070.
 19 Washington courts likewise favor arbitration. See, e.g., In re Marriage of Pascale, 173 Wn.
 20 App. 836, 842 (2013) (noting courts should resolve all doubts as to the application of an 21 arbitration clause to a particular dispute in favor of arbitration). As set forth above, the 22 Agreement is a valid contract that requires all disputes arising from it to be arbitrated.
 23 Consequently, Washington law provides an independent and sufficient basis for this Court to 24 compel arbitration.

25 Plaintiffs evidently also plan to argue that "the arbitration clause is unconscionable under 26 Washington state law because it contains a class action waiver." See Joint Status Report, Dkt.
 27 No. 28 at 2-3. That argument must fail. As an initial matter, Washington does not recognize any 28 blanket prohibition on class action waivers in arbitration clauses. Scott v. Cingular Wireless, 160

1 Wn.2d 843, 860 at n 7 (2007) (“whether any particular class action waiver is unenforceable will
 2 turn on the facts of the particular case”); Knudtson v. AT&T, Inc., No. C09-837RSM, 2010 WL
 3 11682487, at *2 (W.D. Wash. Mar. 1, 2010) (“there is no per se ban on a class-action waiver [in 4 arbitration agreements].”). Moreover, the circumstances where Washington courts have found 5 unconscionable arbitration clauses with class action waivers mostly have been limited to 6 consumer class actions; courts have struck down class action waivers on the grounds that the 7 availability of class proceedings is necessary for consumers to vindicate their rights in 8 connection with claims that are too small to pursue on an individual basis. See, e.g., Scott at 9 852 (“when consumer claims are small but numerous, a class-based remedy is the only effective
 10 method to vindicate the public’s rights”); McKee v. AT & T Corp., 164 Wn.2d 372, 396-97 11 (2008) (“when wrongs are small but widespread, class actions are often the only effective way to 12 address them”).

13 This is not a consumer class action. Plaintiffs are self-described transportation and 14 logistics companies and do not lack an effective method to vindicate their rights. Plaintiffs
 15 agreed to resolve any claims arising out of their commercial agreements with Amazon
 16 exclusively on an individual basis through arbitration. See McCabe Decl. Ex. A. § 13, Ex. B. §
 17 13. In such circumstances, waivers—and arbitration agreements containing such waivers—are 18 valid and must be enforced. See, e.g., Carter v. Rent-A-Ctr., Inc., 718 F. App’x 502, 504 (9th
 19 Cir. 2017) (affirming decision to compel arbitration on an individual basis) (citing AT&T
 20 Mobility LLC v. Concepcion, 563 U.S. 333 (2011)); Akrami v. ABC Phones of N. Carolina, Inc., 21 No. 2:19-cv-02547-JLS-JDE, 2019 WL 6998776, at *2 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 27, 2019) (dismissing 22 class claims where arbitration agreement contained a class action waiver); Castillo v. Cava
 23 Mezze Grill, LLC, No. CV 18-7994-MWF, 2018 WL 7501263, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Dec. 21, 2018)
 24 (“[A]greements to waive class procedures are enforceable”) (citing Epic Sys. Corp. v. Lewis, 138 25 S. Ct. 1612, 1619, 1632 (2018)). Plaintiffs are sophisticated business entities that made a 26 conscious business choice to forego any right to pursue a class action; there is no basis for the 27 Court to relieve them from that contractual choice, and Plaintiffs are free to pursue their claims 28 and to attempt to vindicate their rights through the arbitration process.

1 4. The Agreement Is Not Illusory.

2 Plaintiffs apparently also intend to argue that they can sidestep their express obligations
 3 to arbitrate these claims on the basis that the Agreement is “illusory” and invalid because it
 4 contains a provision allowing Amazon to modify the Agreement with notice to the DSPs.¹ See
 5 Joint Status Report, Dkt. No. 28 at 2-3; McCabe Decl. Ex. A § 14, Ex. B § 14. That argument –
 6 which seeks to invalidate the very Agreement Plaintiffs base their claims on – fails.

7 As an initial matter, under Washington law, a party’s reservation of its right to amend a 8 contract does not render an arbitration clause in the contract illusory or otherwise unenforceable.
 9 See, e.g., Wiseley v. Amazon.com, Inc., 709 F. App’x 862, 864 (9th Cir. 2017) (“the unilateral
 10 modification clause does not render the arbitration provision substantively unconscionable 11 because Amazon is limited by the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing”); Browning v.
 12 24 Hour Fitness, Inc., No. C05-5732RBL, 2006 WL 151933, at *2 (W.D. Wash. Jan. 19, 2006)
 13 (defendant’s ability to unilaterally amend contract, including arbitration clause, with notice, 14 “does not lead to the conclusion that the contract lacked consideration or that it is illusory”).
 15 Indeed, “neither Washington courts nor the Ninth Circuit have ever held an arbitration agreement 16 unenforceable solely because it is in a contract that allows changes.” Ekin v. Amazon Servs., 17 LLC, No. C14-0244-JCC, 2015 WL 11233144, at *3 (W.D. Wash. Feb. 10, 2015) (internal 18 quotation omitted). As such, Amazon’s ability to modify the Agreement, with notice to the DSP, 19 does not make the agreement illusory. See McCabe Decl. Ex. A § 14, Ex. B § 14; see also 20 Buckley Decl. Ex. B (Amos v. Amazon Logistics, Inc., No. 1:22-CV-55, Memorandum Opinion
 21 and Order (M.D. N.C. June 16, 2022)) at 7 (finding the arbitration clause in a DSP agreement
 22 identical to the Agreement here “not illusory under Washington law.”)

23 Moreover, any argument that the contract is illusory because Amazon can modify it is 24 irrelevant here. By moving to compel arbitration, Amazon is not seeking to enforce any 25 provision of the Agreement that has ever been amended; the arbitration clause has remained

26 ¹ Oddly, in the Joint Status Report, Plaintiffs also state that they intend to challenge the Agreement on the basis that 27 it “permits Defendants to unilaterally terminate” the Agreement. But that is plainly wrong. Compare Ex. A 28 § 6(a)(i) (allowing DSP to terminate Agreement “without cause”), with § 6(a)(ii) (allowing Amazon to terminate the Agreement in certain enumerated circumstances); and compare Ex. B § 6(a)(i) with § 6(a)(ii) (same).

1 unchanged during Plaintiffs' participation in the DSP 2.0 Program. McCabe Decl. ¶ 10. Thus,
 2 there is nothing "illusory" about the arbitration clause, which has never changed, and Plaintiffs'
 3 challenge fails for that reason as well. See Sellman v. Boehringer Ingelheim Pharms. Inc., No.
 4 C21-1105-JCC, 2021 WL 4989448, at *2-3 (W.D. Wash. Oct. 27, 2021) (calling defendant's 5 right to unilaterally modify an agreement "irrelevant because [the defendant] is not seeking to 6 enforce any amended provision of that [agreement]").

7 5. Fraudulent Inducement Does Not Invalidate The Arbitration Agreement.

8 A claim that a contract was fraudulently induced cannot invalidate an arbitration
 9 provision contained within that contract. In Prima Paint Corp. v. Flood & Conklin Mfg. Co.,
 10 388 U.S. 395, 404 (1967), the U.S. Supreme Court held that a claim of fraudulent inducement
 11 with respect to a contract containing an arbitration provision should be resolved by arbitration, 12 because it was not alleged that the arbitration provision specifically was fraudulently induced.
 13 Courts within Washington and the Ninth Circuit regularly apply Prima Paint and hold that 14 challenges to the validity of a contract as a whole must be referred to and resolved in arbitration
 15 where, as here, the contract in question contains an arbitration clause. See, e.g., Three Valleys
 16 Mun. Water Dist. v. E.F. Hutton & Co., 925 F.2d 1136, 1140 (9th Cir. 1991); Nagrampa v.
 17 MailCoups, Inc., 469 F.3d 1257, 1263–64 (9th Cir. 2006); Pinkis v. Network Cinema Corp., 18 9 Wn. App. 337, 342 (1973).

19 The Complaint here makes no reference whatsoever to the arbitration clause itself.
 20 Instead, Plaintiffs claim that, "[h]ad Plaintiffs or members of the Class known the truth about the 21 misrepresentations that were contained in the marketing materials and DSP Agreements, neither 22 Plaintiffs nor members of the Class would have signed the contracts on the terms offered."
 23 Compl. ¶ 163 (emphasis added). Thus, Plaintiffs claim that they were fraudulently induced to 24 enter into the Agreement, not the arbitration clause specifically. That is an argument that must be 25 made to the arbitrator. Prima Paint, 388 U.S. at 404.

26

27

28

1 B. The Agreement Delegates Threshold Questions Of Arbitrability To The
 2 Arbitrator.

3 Given that the parties' agreement to arbitrate is valid, that ends the inquiry. All further 4 questions, including the question of arbitrability of the issues in dispute, must go to the arbitrator.
 5 When a valid agreement exists and delegates arbitrability issues to an arbitrator by "clear and 6 unmistakable" evidence, "a court may not decide the arbitrability issue." Henry Schein, Inc. v.
 7 Archer and White Sales, Inc., 139 S. Ct. 524, 529–30 (2019) (quoted and cited sources omitted).
 8 This is true "even if the court thinks that the argument that the arbitration agreement applies to a 9 particular dispute is wholly groundless." Id. (emphasis added). Parties may evidence such 10 "clear and unmistakable" intent to delegate the issue of arbitrability to the arbitrator by expressly 11 incorporating arbitration rules that vest such authority in the arbitrator, such as the Commercial
 12 Rules of the American Arbitration Association. See AAA Commercial Arbitration Rules, R-13 7(a) (arbitrator has authority to rule on "the arbitrability of any claim or counterclaim"),
 14 AMERICAN ARBITRATION ASSOCIATION, COMMERCIAL ARBITRATION RULES AND MEDIATION
 15 PROCEDURES (2013), <https://adr.org/sites/default/files/Commercial%20Rules.pdf>. As the Ninth 16 Circuit has observed: "Virtually every circuit to have considered the issue has determined that 17 incorporation of the [AAA] arbitration rules constitutes clear and unmistakable evidence that the 18 parties agreed to arbitrate arbitrability." Oracle Am., Inc. v. Myriad Grp. A.G., 724 F.3d 1069, 19 1074 (9th Cir. 2013).

20 Here, the Agreement incorporates the AAA Commercial Rules, which vest the authority
 21 to determine arbitrability in the arbitrator. Therefore, the Court must reserve for the arbitrator all 22 remaining questions and issues, including whether Plaintiffs' claims are arbitrable.

23 C. Even If The Court Were To Decide Arbitrability, Plaintiffs' Claims Are 24 Covered By The Arbitration Agreement.

25 The Agreement requires any dispute "arising out of" the Agreement to be arbitrated.
 26 Even if, contrary to Ninth Circuit law, the Court were to address issues of arbitrability and scope,
 27 Plaintiffs cannot meet the heavy burden of showing that their claims fall outside the broad scope 28 of the arbitration agreement.

1 As the Supreme Court has repeatedly recognized, the FAA mandates that “any doubts
 2 concerning the scope of arbitrable issues should be resolved in favor of arbitration.” Mitsubishi
 3 Motors Corp. 473 U.S. at 625-26 (claims fall within the scope of broadly defined arbitration
 4 provisions if they merely “touch” the matters covered). “[A]n order to arbitrate the particular
 5 grievance should not be denied unless it may be said with positive assurance that the arbitration
 6 clause is not susceptible of an interpretation that covers the asserted dispute.” AT&T Techs., Inc.
 7 v. Commc’n Workers of Am., 475 U.S. 643, 650 (1986) (citation omitted).

8 Consistent with the majority view, Washington also affords broad construction to clauses 9 requiring arbitration of all disputes “arising out of” a contract. Such terms are construed to 10 encompass all claims relating to the agreement, including noncontract claims. See David Terry
 11 Invs., LLC-PRC v. Headwaters Dev. Grp. LLC, 13 Wn. App. 2d 159, 168-69 (2020) (compelling 12 arbitration of breach of contract, unjust enrichment, fraud, and conversion claims pursuant to 13 similar arbitration clause); see also JC Aviation Invests., LLC v. Hytech Power, LLC, No. 81539-14 3-I, 2021 WL 778043, at *3 n.11 (Wn. App. Div. I, Mar. 1, 2021) (“Clauses requiring arbitration
 15 of disputes ‘arising out of’ are interpreted broadly.”). Under Washington law, a valid agreement
 16 to arbitrate extends to both statutory claims and claims sounding in tort. See In re Jean F.
 17 Gardner Amended Blind Trust, 117 Wn. App. 235, 239-40, 70 P.3d 168 (2003) (compelling 18 arbitration of tort claims that “arise from the agreement”); Mendez v. Palm Harbor Homes, Inc., 19 111 Wn. App. 446, 454 (2002) (“In Washington, it is well settled that [Consumer Protection Act]
 20 and other statutory claims are subject to arbitration under the FAA.”); Precision Husky Corp. v.
 21 Mountain Equip., Inc., No. 53054-2-I, 2004 WL 2699920, at *3 (Wn. App. Div. I, Nov. 29, 22 2004) (“Parties cannot escape contract arbitration simply by casting their claims in terms of 23 tort.”).

24 Here, all of Plaintiffs’ claims are subject to arbitration under the Agreement under settled
 25 law, for multiple reasons. First, Plaintiffs’ breach of contract claim arises out of the parties’
 26 rights and obligations under the Agreement and is subject to arbitration. See, e.g., David Terry 27 Investments, 13 Wn. App. 2d at 168-69. Second, Plaintiffs’ fraud claim centers on alleged 28 misrepresentations and omissions by Defendants about the DSP Program, i.e., the very subject of

1 the Agreement. Id. Third, under settled law, a claim that a party was fraudulently induced into 2 entering a contract is still subject to that contract's mandatory arbitration provision. See Prima
 3 Paint, 388 U.S. at 406 (claim that execution of contract was procured by fraud was subject to 4 contract's arbitration provision); accord Pinkis, 9 Wn. App. at 345. Fourth, Plaintiffs' claim of 5 breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing is arbitrable. Under settled 6 Washington law, a claim of breach of the implied covenant necessarily requires interpretation of 7 an agreement's express terms and "arises under" the contract. See Bldg. Materials and Const.
 8 Teamsters Local No. 216 v. Granite Rock Co., 851 F.2d 1190, 1193-94 (9th Cir. 1988) (claim of 9 breach of implied covenant "clearly involves the proper interpretation of the agreement" and is 10 subject to arbitration).

11 Fifth, Plaintiffs' claims for unjust enrichment clearly relate to the underlying Agreement
 12 and fall within the broad arbitration clause. See, e.g., CixxFive Concepts, LLC v. Getty Images, 13 Inc., No. C19-386-RSL, 2020 WL 3798926, at *4 (W.D. Wash. July 7, 2020) (holding claims for 14 unjust enrichment and under CPA "relate to the agreement and fall under the broad language" of 15 a similar arbitration clause). Sixth, Plaintiffs' claims under FIPA and CPA are likewise subject 16 to mandatory arbitration. See Allison v. Medicab Int'l, Inc., 92 Wn.2d 199, 203-04 (1979) (a 17 violation under FIPA is "simply a controversy 'arising out of or in connection with (the)
 18 Agreement' and as such becomes subject to the arbitration agreement enforceable under the 19 federal arbitration act"); Pinkis, 9 Wn. App. at 346-47 (affirming order compelling arbitration of 20 FIPA claim); Mendez, 111 Wn. App. at 454 ("In Washington, it is well settled that CPA and 21 other statutory claims are subject to arbitration under the FAA."). Seventh, Plaintiffs' claims for 22 injunctive relief and declaratory judgment arise out of the underlying Agreement and fall within 23 the arbitration agreement, as they deal directly with facts related to the agreement and each 24 party's performance and duties under the agreement. See, e.g., Alaska Protein Recovery, LLC v.
 25 Puretek Corp., No. C13-1429, 2014 WL 2011235, at *4-5 (W.D. Wash. May 16, 2014) (finding 26 declaratory judgment and injunctive relief claims arbitrable where requests "ar[o]se out of or 27 relate[d] to" the agreement).

28

1 Although it is an issue for the arbitrator to decide, each of these claims clearly arises out
 2 of the Agreement upon which this entire dispute is based. Accordingly, pursuant to the parties'
 3 contract, those claims must be arbitrated on an individual basis.

4 D. Plaintiffs Are Estopped From Avoiding Arbitration With Amazon.com.

5 Plaintiffs entered into the Agreement with Amazon Logistics, not with Amazon.com.
 6 Plaintiffs might attempt to use that fact to argue that its claims against Amazon.com are not 7 subject to arbitration. That argument fails. A signatory to an arbitration agreement is equitably 8 estopped from avoiding arbitration with a non-signatory when either (1) “the signatory to a 9 written agreement containing an arbitration clause must rely on the terms of the written 10 agreement in asserting its claims against the nonsignatory,” or (2) “when the signatory to the 11 contract containing an arbitration clause raises allegations of substantially interdependent and 12 concerted misconduct by both the nonsignatory and one or more of the signatories to the 13 contract.” Grigson v. Creative Artists Agency L.L.C., 210 F.3d 524, 527 (5th Cir. 2000); see also 14 Chastain v. Union Sec. Life Ins. Co., 502 F. Supp. 2d 1072, 1081 (C.D. Cal. 2007) (“Plaintiff
 15 cannot artfully plead around an arbitration agreement simply by naming a non-signatory 16 defendant who acted in concert with the signatory”) (citing Grigson, 210 F.3d at 528); Staley v.
 17 Gilead Scis., Inc., No. 19-CV-02573-EMC, 2021 WL 4972628, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Mar. 12, 2021)
 18 (citing Grigson, 210 F.3d at 527). Both of those circumstances justifying estoppel apply here.

19 First, Plaintiffs must rely on the terms of the Agreement to assert any of their claims 20 against Amazon.com. There would be no relationship between any of the Plaintiffs and 21 Amazon, no dispute, and no claims of any sort absent the Agreement and Plaintiffs’ participation 22 in the DSP Program under the Agreement. Plaintiffs expressly rely on the Agreement and its 23 terms to assert claims under Washington law and to assert a contractual claim for breach of 24 contract and breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing.

25 Second, equitable estoppel applies because Plaintiffs allege substantially interdependent
 26 and concerted conduct by Amazon.com and Amazon Logistics, so much so that Plaintiffs do not
 27 even bother to differentiate between the two entities in the Amended Complaint. See Compl. at 2 28 (defining Amazon.com as “Amazon” but also defining Amazon.com and Amazon Logistics, Inc.

1 collectively as “Amazon”); ¶ 20 (describing Defendants as “agents, affiliates, alter egos,
 2 partners, assignees, joint venturers, successors-in-interest or principals of each other”).
 3 Consequently, this Court should not allow Plaintiffs to rely on the terms of the Agreement to, on 4 the one hand, hold Amazon.com liable, while, on the other hand, seeking to avoid arbitration
 5 with Amazon.com because that specific entity did not sign the Agreement. See Grigson, 210
 6 F.3d at 528 (holding that the plaintiff cannot “have it both ways”); David Terry Invs., 13 Wn.
 7 App. 2d at 170 (2020) (same).

8 IV. THE ACTION MUST BE DISMISSED OR STAYED SO THAT THE DISPUTE
 9 MAY PROCEED TO ARBITRATION.

10 Defendants respectfully request that the Court dismiss this action, given that all the 11 claims in the Complaint are arbitrable. Alternatively, Defendants respectfully request that all 12 proceedings in this action be stayed pending completion of arbitration. Under the FAA, the 13 Court must stay proceedings if it is satisfied that an issue before it is subject to arbitration under 14 an agreement. 9 U.S.C. § 3. Under Washington law, a stay is equally mandatory. RCW §
 15 7.04A.070(6).
